THEIR IT IS AGAIN.

A couple of young lads whose pups are connected with monetary institutions located not a thousand miles from Wichita came to town Monday afternoon immediately in the rear of Aldrich & Brown's drug store. They were allowed to fight it out, and as is usually the case one of them got done up in fine style. The victor of the occasion did not clear the field unhurt, as a bloody face testified.

Oh, well; there was a woman in the case. When?

ABSTRACTORS AT THE BAT AND BARBERS IN THE FIELD.

The game of base ball at the West Wichita fair grounds yesterday between the barbers and abstractors was called at 2:30 o'clock. The former were represented by Messrs. Hamilton, Simpson, Gants, Smith, McDonald, Grimes, Miller, Snyder and Harris. The latter was represented by Leach, Russell, Klum, Wise, Koonan, Carr, Hatfield, King and Rountree.

Before the game had gone far it became apparent who was who and which was which. The crowd responded with cheers to all good and bad plays, consequently each side gained a fair amount of applause. The accidents of the day were few, and none of a startling nature. A few bloody fingers comprehended the situation in that line. As will be seen by the score, the light-fingered barbers failed to give their opponents a clean shave. The following is the score:
